GEORGE M. DRYER IN INSANE ASYLUM.

Man Who Predicted Last Friday's Earthquake Is in Doctor Runge's Care.

RELIGIOUS FANATIC.

Believes He Holds Constant Communication With God and Was Ordered to Warn the World of Impending Doom.

George M. Dryer, who for some time has been living at the Grace Hotel, No. 414 Market street, and who predicted the earthquake of Friday morning, is now confined in the City Insane Asylum, under the care of Doctor Runge. He was forwarded from the City Hospital. His trouble is diagnosed as religious mania. He believes he was inspired by God to predict the earthquake. He predicts another one for next Friday. An advertisement inserted in newspapers last week warning the public of earthquakes to take place last Friday and next Friday, and signed Dryer, caused considerable comment. Dryer also visited the office of the Associated Press in the Commercial building and asked Night Manager Boole to send his message of warning to all parts of the earth. Mr. Boole thought he had to o with a fanatic and promised Dryer bis week's salary if the prophecy was fulfilled. Dryer, at the request of a fellow lodger at the Grace Hotel was sent to the City Hospital and then to the Insane Asylum. Doctor Runge, superintendent of the Insane Asylum, said: "His is one of the most peculiar cases that has ever come under ny notice. He has religious mania. It was entirely by chance that he happened to strike the right day in his prediction of an earthquake. He claims that he was inspired by God in making the prediction. He is constantly talking and thinks that he holds constant intercourse with God."

Dryer says his wife is in a convent and a sister is employed at the Union Station. He says he has been in a trance while in communication with God and that it is they will locate a hoop mill at Beaumont, having for its principal object the manufacture of cotton ties, have been met with, and it is now practically assured that the mill will belp to swell Beaumont's list of new industries. A site has been selected in the northern partion of the city near the site purchased last week by the Penman Steel and Iron Works.

The site will be donated by the Beaumont Improvement Company. Mr. John B. Goodhue, who is in Washington with the Deep-Water Committee, will go to Pitisburg to see some of those interested in the enterprise, and if they are ready to proceed with the building of the plant, the negotiations that will locate it here will be finally closed. Other representatives of manufacturers are expected to arrive this week; in fact, it appears that Beaumont is to have a factory boom, cheap fuel being one of the principal inducements.
